Tonight—6:30—WENR, Congressman-at-Large William Dierich. 9:00—Ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith, speaking from Boston.

Tomorrow—8:15—CBS, John W. Davis, from Ithaca, N. Y.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Representatives of Alfred E. Smith, said today that the former Governor's address in Buffalo, N. Y., on Saturday night will be broadcast over an independent hook-up of six New York state radio stations.

At Democratic national headquarters it was said a speech by John W. Davis, Democratic standard bearer in 1924, in Ithaca on the same night will be handled over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

An official of the Columbia Broadcasting company said late yesterday his chain originally had planned to make a broadcast for the Democratic National Committee from Buffalo that night, but that agreements had been changed to permit the picking up of the Davis address instead.

In denying the Democratic National Committee ever had planned to sponsor the Smith broadcast, an official of the radio division said plans were made more than a week ago to handle the Davis speech and that no change had been made.

It was understood the Democratic state committee will sponsor the Smith broadcast.

The Davis address will last from 9:15 P. M. until 9:00 C.S.T.

COMMENTS ON SPEECH

Commenting on his Newark speech in which he spoke of alleged religious bigotry during the 1928 Presidential campaign Smith said today "of course it has been 'roasted' by the Republican papers because they didn't like it. 'I didn't go down there to be kind to the Republicans, you know and it is the stuck pig that always squeals'."

As he left for New England to continue his campaign for the Democratic ticket with a brief informal speech at Providence, R. I. this afternoon and the second major speech at Boston tonight the 1928 Presidential candidate said that his Newark speech will "stand by itself."

Smith made reference to reports that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho had called his Newark speech the best address of the campaign for President Hoover.

"Borah Hoing Potatoes" "Of course," Senator Borah would say that," he said, "because Senator Borah is not for me and he certainly is not for Roosevelt. Four years ago he went up and down the western section trying me up to booze and the saloon. Now his own party has declared for re-election and he hasn't anything to say, so he's out there hoing his Idaho potatoes."

Smith said his Providence R. I. speech would be "just five or ten minutes" because his voice could not stand two long addresses in the same day.

"I can't talk an hour in the afternoon and make another long speech at night," he said. "I did not do that when I was running myself."

At Boston over WABC—CBS at 9 o'clock (CST) he said he would take up the financial aspect of the general situation and would deal with taxation and what he termed Republican neglect to balance the budget.

UNEMPLOYED IN WILD RIOTS IN LONDON TODAY

Scores Injured When Police Charged Unruly Crowds

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Rioting unemployed, shouting defiance at the police, participated today in the most serious disturbance of the kind that London has seen in years.

Fifty thousand people were massed inside Hyde Park and at the several entrances a column of several thousand jobless marched in for a demonstration in protest against administration of the dole system.

In Great Cumberland Place, opposite the marble arch entrance on Edgware Road, a brick was thrown through the postoffice window.

Mounted police charged, swinging their clubs, and the mob fell back, cursing and booing.

The police retired and the crowd swept in again upon them. Time after time the horses pressed back the mob, withdrew, and the mob surged in again.

Several Injured

Stones and mud whizzed past the policemen's heads. Several persons were injured and taken away in ambulances.

This fighting took place over a 300-yard section along the bridge path from the marble arch westward.

Meantime the throng inside Hyde Park had been listening in an orderly manner to speeches from fifty soap box orators, suddenly became menacing.

Attracted by the affray at the marble arch, mobs began to gather inside the park railings.

Mounted police extended their charges along Bayswater Road as the crowds before and behind them grew more hostile.

Women Among Rioters

As the fighting grew more fierce, a score or more injured were carried away, some of them apparently hurt seriously.

There were women screaming among the rioters. Some fainted and were carried into stores.

While all this was going on, a number of elderly gentlemen who led their dogs through Hyde Park every afternoon were out as usual for their daily exercise.

It was nearly 6 o'clock before the police restored some semblance of order. The marchers moved away, singing and shouting taunts but under heavy police guard. The traffic around the marble arch was still snarled.

Smith Has Another Plan To Get Beer

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith has come forward with a new plan for effecting immediate modification of the Volstead Act.

Speaking at a dinner last night, he said:

"I have just been thinking of a quick way to get modification, and I offer this seriously."

"Don't try to change the Volstead Act. All you have to do is just add another section to it, saying:

"Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to apply to malted liquor."

"Then we'll get beer and ale right away. We won't have to pass on the intoxicating quality of it—just say the law doesn't apply to it."

The dinner was in honor of Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, head of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

FIVE RANSOM BANK ROBBERS ARE SENTENCED

Given Year To Life: Three Others To Be Arraigned

Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Five men, members of a gang which robbed the First National Bank at Ransom, Ill., Tuesday, were under sentences of one year to life in the penitentiary today.

The men were arrested here shortly after the robbery. Yesterday they were indicted by the grand jury, together with three other persons. The five entered pleas of guilty soon after their indictment and were sentenced late yesterday afternoon by Circuit Judge Edgar Eldridge.

Those convicted were: William Jacobs, 23, Frank Valone, 38, Joseph Jesse, all of Cicero, Ill., Charles Smith, Chicago, and Alex Sorrento, Chicago Heights.

The three others named were indicted as accessories but were not arraigned yesterday. They were Mr. and Mrs. Mike De Martino, at whose home the five were captured soon after the robbery, and Frank Rino.

The robbery gang took about $2,000 at the Ransom bank, kidnapped two bank employees, and drove out of town followed by a hastily organized posse of citizens. The two bank employees were released a short distance out of Ransom. The robbers eluded most of the posse but were traced to the De Martino home where they were captured by Sheriff E. J. Welter and several of his deputies who had been summoned to the scene.

"Small interest suits" was told in clear and comprehensive language today by Werner W. Schroeder, who, through all the years of prosecution and persecution of the former Governor, stood by Len Small as attorney friend.

Schroeder discussed the subject because it has been hashed and rehashed time and again by the Cermak Democratic machine, its candidate for Governor, Henry Horner, and supporters, in an effort to distract attention from the fund vulnerabilities, and the grave consequences to the state of Illinois if they should be successful in the November 8th election.

Mr. Schroeder's statement, in part, follows:

"Len Small was elected state treasurer in 1916 and served during the World War period of 1917-1918. Treasurer Small, as was the custom deposited state funds in many banks throughout the state. These banks paid interest on deposits at the rate of 2 per cent, which was the customary and usual rate on such accounts. He turned all principal and interest collected into the state treasury. Not a penny was lost to the state."

"Small was anxious to build up the funds in the state treasury, which had been depleted during the preceding four years of Democratic rule."

"On account of wartime financial conditions, many banks were not willing to pay interest on 'daily balances.' As failure to get such interest would mean a big loss of the state, Small arranged with the Grant Park Bank (a private bank owned and controlled by the late State Senator E. C. Curtis) to accept deposits of such state funds as otherwise would draw no interest, and to pay the usual 2 per cent interest thereon, based on 'daily balances.'"

"Private banks were at that time perfectly lawful, as everyone knows. Curtis was an experienced banker, a personal friend of the state treasurer, honest and trustworthy."

Adriane fastens the belt of a blue green crepe afternoon frock with a huge mother of pearl button the size of an after-dinner-cup saucer.
Chanel keeps the jackets of her corduroy velvet sports suits in place with leather belts studded in bright colored stones.

Master Donald Lewis Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fish celebrated his seventh birthday at his home, 155 W. Fourth street Monday evening. Twelve of his little schoolmates gathered at his home and surprised Donald as he returned from school.

The home was beautifully decorated in keeping with Halloween, in pumpkins, oak leaves and corn stalks. Games were enjoyed by the little ones and prizes were given to the winners, as follows:
Pinning on the cat's tail—Lucille Berogan.
Carrying corn on a knife—Donald Fish.
Apple eating contest—Lucille Berogan.

Dropping clothespins in bottles—Eugene Sitter.
The table beautifully decorated in Halloween colors. The birthday cake which was cleverly decorated with cats, owls and pumpkins was the center piece. Nut cups and favors were added attractions. Ice cream, cake, pop corn balls and apples were served the children.
At an early hour all departed for their homes, declaring that they had had a most enjoyable time, leaving Donald many lovely greetings and pretty gifts in honor of his birthday.

These women are known throughout the country as leaders of thought and action. They represent the home, the farm, the shop, the club, the church, the college, business, sports, politics and philanthropy.

President Hoover, with unwavering purpose, has built the foundation of industrial and agricultural rehabilitation. We cannot afford to let these foundations crumble.

Constant Care Insures Good Cocoa

Many mothers want children to have a hot drink before breakfast—particularly on those mornings when a hot cereal is not served. But with coffee taboo for growing girls and boys, and the ideal hot milk seldom proving popular, just what to serve becomes more or less of a problem.

Older children may find a cereal "coffee" served with hot milk quite to their liking. Young children from 6 to 10 or 12 years of age need a drink containing more actual food value than the cereal beverage unless it is made wholly with milk. A cup of hot milk flavored with one or two table-spoons of a cereal coffee infusion may appeal to the juniors.

Cocoa also makes an excellent flavoring for the cut of hot milk suitable for the junior's breakfast.

Fat, starch and protein are found in dry cocoa, and when whole milk is used and sugar is added, the result is a drink of very high food value, nourishing and wholesome. One cup of cocoa made entirely with whole milk furnishes 217 calories of protein, fat and carbohydrate.

Since cocoa contains starch, care must be taken in the making of the drink. Thorough cooking is necessary for the starch, but undesirable for the milk, so the cocoa must be well cooked before the milk is added.

The "skin" which sometimes forms on top of cocoa is the albumen of the milk coagulated by heat. Care in not overheating the milk and constant stirring while the milk is heating do much to prevent this. Beating with a Dover beater after the milk is added increases the smoothness of the drink and tends to remove the "skin" if the milk has been allowed to scald.

Chocolate and cocoa may be used interchangeably, but cocoa is less rich in fat and easier to digest. This makes it a better beverage for small children.

Individual Cocoa

1 teaspoon cocoa
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons boiling water
3-4 cup milk
Few grains salt
2 drops vanilla
Mix sugar and cocoa in a small sauce pan. Add boiling water and cook and stir over fire until a thick smooth syrup. Add milk but do not let mixture scald. Add and salt. Heat, stirring constantly vanilla and serve at once. Protein, 36, fat, 94, carbohydrate, 87, total calories, 217.

A STUDY IN CONTRASTS

Control of Farm Surpluses
PRESIDENT HOOVER IS AGAINST all "patent medicine" surplus controlling schemes and proposes repeal of the stabilization section of the Farm Marketing Act.
To dispose of surpluses the President proposes stimulation of foreign trade by reciprocal agreements on war debts.

Franklin Roosevelt's proposals are vague. To date he has stated nothing specific, has dealt in generalities and leaves the farm question in the air.

Mortgage Refinancing
PRESIDENT HOOVER PROPOSES reorganization of the Federal and Joint Stock Land Bank system to minimize foreclosures and to give "farmers a fighting chance to hold their homes" by

Reorganization of the Farm Loan Board to improve administration;

Reorganization of Federal Land Bank system so Joint Stock Land Banks who wish can be absorbed by Federals;

Guarantee of Federal Land Bank bonds so the loan rate can be lowered;

Additional capital advances so that Federal Land Banks can refinance delinquents;

During this reconstruction of the farm finance systems the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will make loans to the Joint Bank so that pressure for foreclosures can be minimized.

Candidate Roosevelt has no definite idea just how the mortgage burden should be eased. In this, as in other matters, he speaks in general terms.

On the Tariff
PRESIDENT HOOVER PROMISES continued high agricultural rates making it very plain that the present agricultural rates have maintained higher price levels in America than in any other agricultural country.

Candidate Roosevelt is for reducing the tariffs to a "revenue only" basis together with competitive and reciprocal arrangements which in the end mean little if any tariff, especially with reference to agricultural products.

On Land Utilization
PRESIDENT HOOVER HAS a Land Utilization Committee making a study of this subject for the purpose of diverting land from unprofitable to profitable use and has now in operation a national soil survey directed toward this end.

Candidate Roosevelt has a similar idea, which it is evident he lifted from the President's program.

Taxes
PRESIDENT HOOVER IS very emphatic on tax redistribution and has been urging tax reform during his entire administration.

Candidate Roosevelt again agrees with President Hoover and has adopted for his own the President's ideas on this subject.

Between the definite proposals of the President, backed up by a record of achievement, and the vague promises of the Democratic candidate, no thoughtful citizen should take long to decide. The only hope of continuing the progress that is being made toward economic recovery is by the re-election of Herbert Hoover. Any other result at the polls would plunge the country into a state of "business nerves" and add millions to the sad army of unemployed.

Speed up recovery by the re-election of President Hoover.

BRITAIN'S WALL GOES UP.

The fruits of the imperial conference at Ottawa last July are about ready to be plucked. Prime Minister Bennett's recent announcement of the details of the trade agreement executed at that time indicates that the attempt to make a self-contained economic unit out of the far-flung British empire is going to be made in a wholehearted manner.

South of the international border, his agreement is not likely to call forth any thunderous cheers. Lower duties on goods exchanged between Canada and England, higher duties on goods coming in from other nations—these are not exactly measures that will help industry in the United States. Eventually according to British estimates, the scheme will reduce American exports by millions of dollars.

It is too early, of course, to say just how effective the agreement will be. It is quite clear, however, that it is far from an encouraging bit of news for the American exporter.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The farmer said, "I surely hope that with my real long piece of rope your flying horse can tow my car right up to my big farm."

"When we get there I'll let you play around the place the livelong day. There's nothing there to hurt you, so there's no cause for alarm."

Said Scouty, "We will do the best we can and, if with luck we're blessed, we soon will reach our destination. Come, let's hurry now."

"The rope must be tied very tight so everything will be all right. The horse is quite a patient beast. It will not start a row."

They tied the rope as best they could and Duncy shouted, "That looks good. Now let's climb in the farmer's car and shout a loud giddap!"

"However, if the horse should balk because we're heavy, we will walk. I'll run along beside it, giving it a friendly slap."

So, in they climbed and then the beast said, "Even though the load's increased, I'll try to pull you over the ground to prove that I am strong."

"Just hang on tight and off we go. At first the pace will be real slow, but soon I'll travel rapidly, unless my guess is wrong."

The horse then took a step or two and Duncy cried, "Hurray for you! You're doing great. Just keep it up. Gee, this is heaps of fun!"

Then he kept for a while, but shortly added, with a smile, "Aw, shucks, the pace is much too slow. Why don't you start to run?"

Perhaps this made the horse real mad, 'cause something happened that seemed sad. Instead of running over the ground, the horse flew in the air.

This broke the rope. Then, with a shout, wee Duncy suddenly jumped out and grabbed the horse's tail. He cried, "Hey! Don't go 'way up there."

(The flying horse comes down to earth again in the next story.)

deal, making "suckers" of Americans!

No phrase-maker since Woodrow Wilson has been so uniformly and persistently unsuccessful in picking catch words as has Roosevelt. He launched a tirade against holding companies and was soon exposed as one of the leading spirits in a gigantic holding company organized to merge the nation's slot machine business and one of the board of directors which never materialized. Millions of profits were definitely promised in the camco prospectus—making suckers of Americans!

President Hoover is the latest to bring home to the voters the vote-catching schemes by which the Democratic nominee seeks to make "suckers" of them, when in his Detroit speech he laid bare the falsity of the Shearson letter, in which the New York Governor sought to delude America's unemployed with promises of jobs impossible of fulfillment.

"But above all I ask you whether or not such frivolous promises and dreams should be held out to the unemployed people," the President said, after analyzing the Roosevelt letter. "Is this the new ure to curb the activities of so-called "international bankers" and was promptly exposed as an international banker himself, one who merged German marks holdings in this country, bought seventeen industrial plants in Germany, and attempted to utilize the distress and poverty of German workmen to compete in American markets with the products of American factories. Then, as now, he advocated lower tariffs for foreign-made goods.

He talked of the "forgotten man" and the "new deal" and was soon exposed as the governor who gave a convicted "baby prisoner" found guilty of conspiracy to supply poisoned milk to the teeming tenements of New York City, a "new deal" in a pardon that freed him after only a short term, as one of his first acts as New York's governor—making suckers of Americans!

After attempting for months to delude the veteran vote by his silence, making the ex-soldiers believe he might favor prepayment of the bonus certificates, he was finally smoked out so far as to issue a lame statement that he favored such payment when the treasury could afford it, knowing the treasury never has had that much much unappropriated money.—Making suckers of Americans!

He flew to Chicago to accept his nomination and brought with him one new idea—a tree planting idea to relieve unemployment. A prompt exposure of the fact there weren't enough trees available to occupy 300 men for one day in planting them, killed the scheme so dead he has never mentioned it since.—Making Suckers of Americans.

The ghost of the late Col. Geo. Harvey, friend and confidant of Woodrow Wilson, has risen up to plague him. Col. Harvey, whose pungent phrase making his famous Harvey's Weekly is still remembered, summed up the present Democratic candidate as "F. D. (Feather Duster) Roosevelt."

"That statement, comments Ellis Huntington Dana, of Boston, 'surely and aptly characterizes Roosevelt. For during this campaign he has persistently used the method of dusting off a problem looking it over, but not actually coming to grips with it, and then leaving the problem almost as he found it, with his hearers more than ever confused as to where he stands. And in his glittering generalities, his misleading vagueness and his exorbitant promises the people are coming more and more to understand why Col. Harvey dubbed him 'feather duster' Roosevelt."

Even this campaign biographers have not missed the Governor's feather duster habits. A recent article in the New York Times Sunday Magazine says of him: "Anyway, systematic or not that

"And the country," adds Dana "has come to know him as one of the most elusive skimmers and skippers of issues that a national campaign has ever seen."

SUNLIGHT AND VITAMIN D

Rickets, it has been established can be prevented and cured either by vitamin D or by sunlight.

It is possible to feed experimental animals on a rickets-producing diet, so that the animals will invariably develop rickets.

The American scientist Steenbock and his co-workers demonstrated that by exposing the substances of the rickets-producing diet to radiation by the sun or to ultraviolet light-producing lamps the food could be made non-rickets producing.

When this was observed, chemists set to work to determine the nature of the substance which, when refined and radiated with ultraviolet light, gives rise to vitamin D. They were successful in their search, demonstrating that the substance is cholesterol.

Following this clue, it was possible to explain why exposure to sunlight was effective in preventing in curing rickets.

For it was demonstrated that cholesterol, or more specifically, ergosterol, is present in skin fat of the human. Hence vitamin D, the rickets-preventing substance, is produced in the skin when it is exposed to sunlight.

The proof of this was demonstrated in an experiment at the University Kinderklinik in Vienna under the late Prof. Pirquet.

In Vienna, as recently as 10 years ago many of the infants and children were still showing the effects of food deprivation incidental to the World War.

Rickets was almost universal. Among the older population osteomalacia, a softening of the bones, was widespread.

A group of children in the Kinderklinik was divided into two sections. Both were fed the ordinary hospital diet, but one group received in addition cod liver oil and sunlight.

Those fed on the hospital diet alone were not cured of rickets, while those that received cod liver oil and sunlight recovered.

The osteomalacia of the older group was shown to be curable by sunlight and cod liver oil.

LUDENDORFF RESIGNS

On Oct. 27, 1918, General Ludendorff, first quartermaster general of the German army, resigned after the Reichstag adopted a bill placing the military command under the control of the civil government. General Groener succeeded Ludendorff. The crown council and dignitaries of the entire empire conferred.

Italian and British forces crossed the Piave in a new drive toward the Isonzo, capturing several towns, 9000 Austrians and 51 guns. The French advanced on a 15-mile front between the Oise and Serre, gaining five miles at some points.

Germany answered President Wilson's note asserting that the peace negotiations were being conducted by a People's government and that Germany was awaiting proposals for an armistice.

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the infamous Captain Kidd's fierce raids on the gold-laden Spanish galleons (1696), which made him the scourge of the Spanish Main. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

THREE AND HALF MILLION MEALS SERVED IN YEAR

Average Cost Of Each Meal At State Hospital $0.0455

At an average cost of four and one-half cents per meal the employees, attendants and patients at the Dixon state hospital were served 3,626,825 meals during the fiscal year ended June 30, the report of the state Department of Public Welfare, recently issued, discloses. The average cost of each meal was considerably less than the mean average for all of the twenty-eight institutions, in which $4,511,850 meals were served in the year at a cost of 5.69 cents each.

The low cost of the meals, however, does not mean that they are skimpy or lacking in protein content and caloric value, the average daily food for each individual being about 3.9 pounds, with protein content of 101.44 and 2980 calories. A typical week bill of fare at the institution is that for the week of Oct. 16:

Competition Hurts All Transportation

Philadelphia, Oct. 26—(AP)—President Hoover in a letter to be read to the Atlantic Deep Waterways Association convention, which opens here tomorrow, says that "cut-throat competition is not only injuring waterway traffic itself but it is damaging our other great arm of transportation, that is the railways."

"We must work out the problem of regulation of transportation by water," the President says, "because the cut-throat competition now going on in certain cases is making impossible the entry and maintenance of adequate services upon these channels."

PRESIDENT AND RICHIE BOTH IN INDIANA FRIDAY

Will Address Audiences In Indianapolis On Same Evening

Baltimore, Oct. 27—(AP)—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will address a Democratic rally in Indianapolis tomorrow night while President Hoover is speaking to a Republican gathering in the same city.

Gov. Ritchie leaves tonight for Indianapolis. He completed his plans for the rally in the Indiana Capital more than a week ago when he postponed a scheduled address because it came on the day following a campaign meeting there of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee.

When President Hoover's plans were announced yesterday for his trip to Indianapolis on Friday, Governor Ritchie talked with Indiana Democratic leaders who asserted they would go through with their plans.

Indianapolis, Oct. 27—(AP)—National issues have dominated the political campaign in Indiana this year.

The depression—its cause and cure—and the tariff have furnished ammunition for oratorical "big guns" brought up in support of the drive for votes.

Statisticians at the headquarters of both Republican and Democratic parties have gambled the outcome of the chances of the state tickets on the result of the presidential contest. It is their belief that the presidential candidate who carries Indiana will pull his party's nominees through to victory.

Carrying out this plan of battle the Democrats have had Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for President; National Chairman James A. Farley; Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of Navy; and others in Indiana for addresses. Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland will be here tomorrow.

Republicans will have President Hoover in Indianapolis tomorrow night for the fourth of his major campaign speeches for re-election. Vice President Charles Curtis is to speak next Tuesday night at Sheridan. Republican Chairman Everett Sanders, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and other cabinet members, too, have been on the Hoosier battle front.

Springer On His Own
Raymond S. Springer, the Republican nominee for Governor, apparently none too confident as to success of the strategy of party leaders, recently opened his own campaign offices and put a personal staff to work.

United States Senator James E. Watson, with thirty-eight years' service in Congress behind him, has discussed national issues almost exclusively. The Republican protective tariff has been his frequent subject, along with the Home Loan Bank law. He has ignored prohibition.

Frederick Van Noy of Indianapolis, Senator Watson's Democratic opponent, has given prohibition considerable attention. He has declared for immediate modification of the Volstead Act and repeal of the 18th Amendment. He blames Republican tariff for unemployment in the United States. Van Noy was United States attorney here a few years ago.

Woman For Congress
Prohibition otherwise has had little general attention from the stump although several candidates for Congress, among them Mrs. Virginia E. Jenckes of Terre Haute, Democratic opponent of the veteran Congressman Fred S. Purnell of Attica, is campaigning on a platform of repeal. Purnell is standing on his party's national platform regarding prohibition.

The state Democratic platform favors repeal of the 18th Amendment while the Republican platform advocates the submission of the question to the people. Both parties recommend repeal of the Indiana liquor law and substitution of one to permit sale of medicinal whisky and less severe penalties for violation.

Paul V. McNutt, Dean of the Law School at Indiana University and former National Commander of the American Legion, is the Democratic choice for Governor. He has confined his speeches to criticism of the administration of Governor Harry G. Leslie, Republican, and alleged mismanagement of other state office holders not of his party. Indiana Democrats believe they have White House timber in McNutt, a man of dynamic personality.

G. G. P. Has Controlled
For sixteen years, or four terms, Republican Governors have been elected. Practically every other state office also was Republican during that span until 1930, when the Democrats elected a half dozen state officers, in addition to winning a majority of the city elections.

Indiana Democrats are extremely confident of victory Nov. 8 and some Republican leaders do not hide the fact that they are worried. It was through their insistence that the White House was besieged with requests until President Hoover decided to come here tomorrow.

Four years ago Indiana gave President Hoover 848,290 votes as against 562,691 for Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee for President. Indiana has no registration law, but it has been estimated at the State House that there are 1,781,786 men and women eligible to vote next month.

Former Educator Killed In Crash

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—Dr. H. P. Schwarz, East St. Louis, Ill., formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Illinois, was killed late last night when his automobile struck a culvert near White Heath, Ill., during a heavy rain.

The accident occurred on route 10 about 15 miles west of here while Dr. Schwarz was en route to the 13th annual state veterinarians' conference on the Illinois campus. It is believed he failed to notice a curve in the road.

An inquest was to be held today in Platt county after which the body may be sent to Wisconsin for burial.

BIG BERTHAS OF BOTH PARTIES ON THE FIRING LINE

Few Voters Will Escape Their Fire From Now On

Washington, Oct. 27—(AP)—Rolling their oratorical big guns into position, both major political parties are opening during the final 10 days of the presidential campaign, a barrage of speech-making so effective that few voters would escape their fire.

For days, while the firing on the front has been steadily growing in intensity, the party generals have been mobilizing their forces behind the lines for a final "big push" that would make their previous campaigning seem mild in comparison.

Both parties have called out their heavy artillery for the big drive. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith leads off for the Democrats today with speeches in Providence and Boston, while President Hoover will open up the Republican barrage tomorrow night with a speech at Indianapolis.

From then on, both sides will throw everything they have into the fight, with the two presidential candidates leading the way.

Governor Roosevelt has speeches scheduled for next week in Boston, Brooklyn and New York City, while President Hoover is already slated to speak in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark and New York City.

Both On Firing Line

Additional speaking engagements are being arranged for both, and hardly a night will pass between now and November 8 that one or both is not on the firing line.

Both parties are directing their heaviest fire in the closing days at the warmly disputed states along the eastern seaboard and in New England.

The Democrats are backing up their presidential candidate with their two other defeated candidates, es, Governor Smith and John W. Davis. The Republicans are returning the fire with President Hoover's cabinet aides and Vice President Curtis.

Smith, after his speeches today, will appear Saturday in Buffalo, N. Y., and in other New York cities next week. Davis speaks at Ithaca, N. Y., on Saturday. Governor Ritchie of Maryland will address a rally in Indianapolis tomorrow night while President Hoover is speaking in the same city.

Next week, Senator Glass of Virginia, will take the stump for the Democrats to join many of his party colleagues in the Senate already in action.

Cabinet On Job

Spread across the country, are members of President Hoover's cabinet. Secretary Mills, his chief campaigning aide, is speaking in Utah, New York, tonight; New Haven, Worcester and Hartford, tomorrow and Saturday, while Secretary Hyde is campaigning in California, the President's home state.

Secretary Hurley speaks in Philadelphia today and later in Kansas City, and Cincinnati, Findlay and Akron, Ohio. Secretary Wilbur will appear in Cleveland Saturday, and Larmie, Wyoming next week.

Vice President Curtis, now stumping Ohio, is scheduled later to speak in Indiana, Missouri and his home state of Kansas. His sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, now in Indiana, will campaign in Illinois and wind up in Kansas.

The stretch will find the Democrats drawing support also from several of the Independent Senators. Last night in Denver, Cutting of New Mexico, urged liberals to support Governor Roosevelt. Norris of Nebraska is scheduled to speak for Roosevelt on the west coast next week, while Senator Johnson of California will make an address in support of the Democratic nominee tomorrow night at San Francisco.

While the two major parties are thus covering the country, Norman Thomas, candidate on the Socialist ticket, will wind up his campaign with speeches in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Wisconsin.

Emmerson Takes A Hand In Probe Of Pana Man's Death

Pana, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson took a hand today in the investigation of the mysterious slaying of Earl A. Carroll, 56, prominent Pana business man who was found dead Sunday on his goat farm one mile south of here with three steel jacket bullets in his head.

The Governor sent Frank F. Uteria and C. L. Farber, of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation here to work on the case and to assist Prosecutor Harry Grundy of Christian county. The investigators said one bullet taken from Carroll's head was from an automatic and that his death evidently had been systematically planned. They predicted early solution of the crime despite the fact that Carroll had no known enemy and that no clues leading to a motive had been uncovered.

Paul Stanfield, 14-year-old Boy Scout, who was building a hut in a patch of timber near the scene of the murder today told detectives of seeing a man crouched behind a hedge ten feet from where the body of Carroll was found and that a few minutes later heard shots fired.

Will F. Jordan, Pana newspaperman and foreman of the Coroner's Jury said the jury will be recalled tomorrow morning when additional evidence will be given.

ATTORNEY TELLS TRUE STORY OF INTEREST SUITS

deposited with it, taking short-term notes, bearing interest at rates of 6 per cent. and in some cases 7 per cent.

"While Small, as state treasurer, could not lend state funds to the packers, he could and did accept their notes as collateral security for repayment of the sums deposited with the Grant Park bank.

"The state funds deposited by Small with the Grant Park bank, interest at 2 per cent. and both principal and interest turned into the state treasury by State Treasurer Small. Not a dollar of principal was lost and the funds had earned for the state 2 per cent interest."

Here, Mr. Schroeder related the history of Len Small's indictment after he had become governor, and two and one-half years after he had been state treasurer, his trial on charges of embezzlement and his acquittal by a Lake county jury. He told how Small was indicted after he had vetoed $7,000,000 in state appropriations, including $689,600 from the fund of the Attorney General who later indicted him. The Attorney General who tried to obtain as much money as the combined appropriations for Attorneys General in the 22 states west of the Mississippi River, six times as much as the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, seven times as much as the Attorney General of Ohio and five times as much as the combined appropriations of the Attorneys General of Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Kentucky and Iowa, the five states surrounding Illinois.

"Small cut $689,600 from the Attorney General's appropriation but left him over $600,000, a sum almost equal to the combined appropriations for the Attorneys General of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin," Mr. Schroeder said.

"He told how the vindictiveness of the Attorney General was continued after Mr. Small's acquittal on the criminal charges, by the starting of civil suits, how none of the charges against other former State Treasurers were ever tried, and how the Attorney General was rejected by the people in the next primary.

"During the period between Small's arrangement with the Grant Park bank and the political persecution of the Governor," Mr. Schroeder said, "Senator Curtis had died, his estate had been probated, and the assets distributed. "Although it was admitted that Small had actually turned over all funds and interest collected by him to the state, the Supreme Court in divided opinion, finally held in effect that (although he could not lawfully have loaned the funds directly to the packers), nevertheless, the full interest paid by the packers belonged to the state, and that Small was personally liable for the difference between the amount of interest collected by the bank from the packers, and the 2 per cent which Small had collected from the bank and turned into the State Treasury.

Thus was a faithful public servant punished, and obliged to pay $500,000 which he had never received, because of his perhaps mistaken zeal in trying to get 2 per cent interest for the state on public funds, which, if deposited in other banks, would have earned nothing.

"An thus also did the state, for the first time in its history, secure upwards of 6 per cent on public funds, deposited in any bank.

"The following stipulation and statement by the present Attorney General are self-explanatory:

"STIPULATION: It is further stipulated and agreed between the parties that the evidence in this cause fails to establish that the defendant, Len Small, received any sum or sums of money whatsoever as interest upon public funds for or during his term of office as State Treasurer, except such sums as he has already accounted for and paid into the State Treasury of this state, and that the liability of said defendant, Len Small, in this cause is solely for interest received by the other defendants herein."

Statement of Present Attorney General: "No one has ever contended that there was any evidence in the record that Len Small personally received any part of the interest earnings on the so-called packers' notes and to state that fact and give it formal expression in the stipulation was a recognition of the state of the record as made by the evidence that constituted a simple act of fairness that one should not lack the courage to do."

"Referring to his payment of the money, Governor Small, in his final report to the legislature at the close of his second term as governor, said that the money was not paid back into the Treasury. It was never in the State Treasury and it never belonged to the state; none of it ever had been received by me as interest on public funds."

"The judge of the Supreme Court who actually wrote the opinion against me was a potential candidate for Governor and expected to run against me for that office and was writing the opinion in such a manner as to make it campaign material for himself when he became a candidate. Subsequently,

Crooner Quits Warbling; And Everyone's Happy

By DALE HARRISON
New York, Oct. 27—(AP)—Will Osborne has quit crooning and his mother is very glad of it.

Other persons, no kin to the dance band maestro, also have expressed happiness over his decision, on the theory that one less crooner is, after all, one less crooner; and small favors are thankfully received, times being what they are.

Osborne himself has become fed up on crooning after seven years of being one of its prominent exponents.

His mother, Lady Ella C. Oliphant of Toronto, Ont., has always frowned upon her son's croon since the very first. As Will explained it today:

"She told me that the croon reminded her unmistakably of the swan song of a dying cat." The telegram Lady Oliphant sent her son upon learning of his renunciation of the croon, said: "Delighted to learn you have decided to cease crooning. Love."

"Mother was right," said Will. "I was a headstrong youth. I felt very badly at her 'crack' about the croon sounding like a dying cat, but I kept on, despite her warning. Now I know the truth of that old saying 'Mother was right'."

Besides, as his manager pointed out, the market for crooners at present is very low.

this judge actually did become a candidate for Governor.

Prior to that time I had accounted for and paid into the State Treasury the sum of $450,000, which was all the interest ever received by me from all the banks in which state funds were deposited. This amount was more than twice the interest earned during the term of any other State Treasurer up to that time. With the additional payment made in July, 1927, the total paid by me to the Treasury is $1,100,000, or about 5 per cent of all money available for deposit usually received on public funds.

"I have paid into the Treasury more interest than all state Treasurers combined during the 99-year period from the time Illinois became a state in 1818 to the beginning of my term in 1917.

"I believe that when the passing years enable us to look at this decision of our highest court with candid and unbiased eyes, we shall look upon that day as a regrettable incident in the history of the judicial department."

Len Small was a good Governor, Mr. Schroeder continued. "The eight years during which Len Small was Governor were the best eight years the people of Illinois ever had. His administration was clean, honest, capable and independent. He built up the balance in the state Treasury from $15,000,000 to $40,000. He saved the taxpayers $167,000,000 that the legislature appropriated more than was necessary. He reduced the cost of state government, until Illinois had the lowest cost per person of any state in the union, with four exceptions.

"He built over 7,000 miles of paved roads without a cent of direct tax upon the property of the people, and at an average cost of $10,000 per mile less than had been paid before he took office.

"To Governor Small also should go credit of building the Illinois Waterway, which should mean a saving of millions of dollars every year to the farmers of Illinois, one one dollar per ton to the coal users of Chicago, due to lower freight rates.

"By cultivation of state lands and frugal management of state institutions, he provided the 26,000 wards of the state with better food, clothing and shelter, yet at less cost per inmate than ever before.

On Small's recommendation, the people voted $55,000,000 in soldier's bonus bonds. He approved over 267,000 claims which were paid to worthy sons of Illinois who served in the World War.

The voters of Illinois who believe that faithful public service is desirable, and who are opposed to turning the entire state of Illinois over to Tony Cermak, should mark their ballots for Len Small."

Rockford Realtor Is Indicted Wednesday

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—Ernest C. Stokburger, whose million dollar real estate business crashed last May, was today named in 17 indictments charging embezzlement and one alleging he operated a confidence game.

The indictments were returned by a grand jury which also returned 38 other indictments naming 48 defendants for a new high record for Winnebago county.

Sums named in the embezzlement charges against Stokburger ranged from $300 to $3,500.

ROOSEVELT TO GIVE ATTENTION TO STATE OFFICE

Plans Conference With Republican Leaders Of Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27—(AP)—With most of his presidential campaigning behind him, Governor Roosevelt today turned his attention to a serious state problem, the care of New York's thousands of unemployed next winter.

The Democratic presidential nominee ended an eight day trip to the middle-west and the south last night when he motored up the Hudson river from New York City where he left his special train yesterday morning. He had left Albany October 18.

Today his chief engagement was with Republican leaders of the state legislature and members of the Unemployment Relief Commission to discuss the advisability of a special session of the legislature to effect changes in the laws governing state aid.

November 8, New York voters will pass upon a proposed $30,000,000 bond issue to finance relief work for the next year.

Roosevelt will remain in Albany until Saturday when he will motor to Groton, Mass., to visit his young sons, John and Frank, in school there. Many of the party leaders of New England also are expected to call upon him at Groton. Next Monday he will speak in Boston.

His return to Albany last night, unlike his returns from the convention which nominated him and the long western swing earlier this month, was almost unnoticed. Few knew when he would arrive home. He waved to the newspapermen who had followed him on all his half dozen trips, advising them "to go to bed and get some rest. I am going to do." He had stopped at Hyde Park on his way from New York to dine with his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, at the old family home.

These one day conventions have become one of the greatest enterprises of the Dilemma of Christ and one of the most effective means of presenting the broad work of their communion. In one day those attending get a world-wide view of the Christian service they are making possible through their church. Preachers and laymen meet together with missionaries and other leaders, and together they face the responsibilities of their brotherhood work.

The one day conventions are sponsored by the United Christian Missionary Society of Indiana. Last year the conventions increased in total attendance from 46,865 to 63,336. The number of ministers who attended grew from 1,750 to 2,314, and the 2,956 churches represented in 1931 was an increase of 459. One hundred and eighty-three conventions have been planned for this year.

One of this series of conventions will be held in the First Christian Church, Wednesday, November 2. The territory represented in this convention include the counties of Bureau, Carroll, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, Whiteside and Winnebago.

New Strain Of Typhoid Germs Is Being Sought

Washington, Oct. 27—(AP)—Youth is crowding out age, even among the tiny germs that have the job of protecting Americans against deadly typhoid fever.

Information before the American Public Health Association today indicated a fresh, young generation of germs may have to be put to work on this important health job soon. Dr. Francis B. Grinnell of Harvard Medical School reported the old germ family that has been used to make protective vaccine for millions of individuals since 1903 apparently is beginning to "lose its grip."

Typhoid germs used in making practically all the anti-typhoid vaccine in America and England today are descended from germs taken from a British soldier who died of typhoid fever during the Boer War in 1903. The germs were selected because they were especially well adapted to making vaccine and are known as the "Rawlinson strain."

Millions of American and British soldiers during the World War were protected against typhoid by the "umpteenth" great-grandchildren of these original Boer War germs.

"Bacterioid tests indicate," Dr. Grinnell said, "that the Rawlinson strain is far inferior to smooth strains (a more virulent type)."

"It would seem, only reasonable, therefore, to substitute virulent, smooth cultures for the old Rawlinson strain if we are to get the maximum protection from our anti-typhoid vaccines."

This loss of protective power by the old typhoid strain may be explained by the fact that the germs have been grown for almost 30 years under artificial conditions.

N. Y. COLLEGE STUDENTS HAD WILD SESSION

Charged Night Court And Battled Police To Free Fellows

New York, Oct. 27—(AP)—A siege of the white way's famous night court by 750 college students ended early today in suspended sentences for 14 youths and a co-ed seized by charging police reserves.

Free-for-all fistfights featured the demonstration, which swirled in the hall of the building, forcing Magistrate August Dreyer to adjourn court because all his police-men were outside helping quell the students.

The demonstration grew from a protest meeting by students who demanded "free speech" and reinstatement of Oakley Johnson, a student who was dropped from the faculty of the College of the City of New York.

Student supporters said he was dismissed as a Communist sympathizer. College officials, denying this, said he was an "extra" in-riaries and other leaders, and together they face the responsibilities of their brotherhood work.

STAN BALL, accused ASPER DELO, timber king, of having men shot who attempt to check up on his activities. He tells Dele he is making a check. Dele tells him he will see personally that he does not. Upon leaving Dele's office Ball saves DONA, Asper's daughter, from kidnappers and tells her he is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTER, in love with DONA, goes with her to Three Rivers to get her father to give up his wild fight with Ball. Dudley plans to marry DONA and gets a certificate signed. Ball is accused of killing a ranger and of a number of crimes. He is supposed to have ambushed Dele and wounded her badly. DONA has to tell her father she is married to Dudley in order to quiet him and get him to give up the hunt. He agrees, but backs out when the office is robbed. The posse surround Ball. They are headed by SWERGIN, Dele's timber boss, who has taken a fancy to DONA.

DONA joins the hunt and is captured by Ball after attempting to shoot him. He takes her to a cave. Swergin discovers the cave while Ball is outside and captures him, rescuing DONA. Swergin's men start to lynch Ball, but DONA steps in and saves him. He takes her with him, but lets her have his horse to ride to camp. She returns it that night and Dudley follows her. He tries to shoot Ball, but misses. DONA is contrite and agrees to marry him. Dudley has been riding by himself a great deal. DONA agrees to marry him that evening. They ride out and DONA knows now she can't go for Ball, leads him to the cave. DONA thinks Ball has left, but DONA lives. DONA discovers activity in Pons Creek that she is sure her father does not know about. She decides to ride over the next day.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII

DONA was up early and down to the corral before the rest of the camp was stirring. Malloy was nowhere in sight so DONA saddled the roan herself. She galloped up the slope toward Pass Creek.

She met the sunrise as she cantered out at the top of Pass Creek divide. The world below her on each side was hidden in a misty shadow. Only the ridge was aglow with the golden splendor of the sun.

DONA sat on her horse and looked down into the valley she was about to enter. She was sure adventure beckoned to her, sure that she would soon know the secret of all the trouble in the Three Rivers country.

The trail was rough and unused for a half mile. Then several trails joined it, apparently coming from above, but from different angles, and it became a beaten path way that showed recent heavy use. DONA pushed on along this path.

way for another half mile. She began to grow uneasy as the trail widened. She would be sure to meet someone on so well marked a road.

With a sudden feeling that she was about to come upon another rider she pulled out of the trail and took to the timber. This made the going slower.

She came to the edge of the clearing she sought, guided to the spot by the roar of a truck motor. The timber had become so heavy that it was impossible to see any trail marks or landmarks behind her. DONA thanked her luck that she had always had a keen sense of direction.

DISMOUNTING she hid the roan in a dense growth of brush and berry bushes. Her next step was to push forward in the direction of the truck. The job of forcing her way through the brush was a difficult one for a slender girl, but DONA was determined to see what was going on.

She came to an opening in the trees and peered out. What she saw made her lips tighten. The clearing had once been piled high with cut lumber and poles. She could see the props and the planks they had been piled upon. Several thousand feet of lumber still remained. Two big trucks were loading from the remaining stacks.

DONA's eyes sparkled with anger as she watched the men at work. A heavy voice bellowed an order and DONA stepped back quickly. She recognized that voice—Swergin was directing the work. It was plain that this timber was being sent out without checking, if it was not being deliberately stolen by the boss.

DONA began to understand things more clearly than before. But she could not make up her mind. She must ride in and see her father. She would have a straightforward talk with him. If Swergin was stealing from the company he would meet with a lot of trouble. She worked her way back to her horse and mounted. Her return was begun more carefully than her approach. She realized that if she was caught she might be dealt with roughly. Swergin would not hesitate to keep her prisoner until he had finished his job.

She kept off the trail until she was well up toward the top of the ridge. When she could see the pass ahead she cut across and located the pathway. Riding swiftly she topped the pass and halted. The roan blew noisily and pawed to be on his way, but DONA quieted him with a pat on the neck, for she was suddenly interested in the back trail.

A stone rattled below and a branch snapped. DONA turned the roan and slid from sight over the pass. Someone was riding up from below and it might be Swergin.

THE roan trotted along eagerly while DONA watched behind her. A stone came rattling down into the trail from above and she glanced up the hillside. She caught a flash of a black horse and the wide Stetson hat of a rider. Her heart jumped wildly and she strained her eyes, but the rider had vanished above her.

DONA urged the roan a little faster and listened for sounds from above. She had the advantage in a race if she chose to let her horse out because she was on the trail and the man above was in the rough timber.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — The decision of the Supreme Court upholding the validity of Mississippi's redistricting law was significant to Washington observers principally because of the bearing it will have on the future organization of the powerful ways and means committee of the House.

The present chairman James W. Collier of Mississippi, was one of those vitally affected by the court's decision. Collier, a veteran of 24 years' service in the House, refused to participate in the state primary in which the congressional nominees were chosen on the ground that the redistricting act was unconstitutional.

According to the supreme courts decision he is now "out" as a democratic nominee. He was deprived of the chance of running at large, and his only chance of holding on to his seat was to file as an independent candidate, which he refused to do.

DOUGHTON IN LINE—

In Collier's failure to return to the house, the chances are that the next chairman of the ways and means committee—one of the most influential jobs in the house—will come from way down the line.

Crisp of Georgia, the acting chairman during most of the present congress due to Collier's ill health would certainly have gotten the post had he not been defeated a few weeks ago in his attempt to enter the Senate. Now he is out, having accepted a job as a member of the tariff commission.

The next man to Crisp in rank is Rainey of Illinois. There's little likelihood of his becoming chairman, however. Already he is in party's floor leader and would hardly relinquish that job under any circumstances.

There remains then Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, the tall, wide-shouldered representative who sprang into such prominence this past session as one of the leaders of the coalition that defeated the sales tax.

HELPED BEAT TAX—

Doughton, who has represented the eighth district of North Carolina for some 22 years in the house, was the only member of the ways and means committee who refused to sign the report recommending the sales tax to the house last session, when such desperate attempts were being made to "balance the budget."

He not only refused to go along with his committee members, but with the fiery and irrepressible progressive republican, LaGuardia, of New York, led the offensive that sent the bill down to defeat.

Miss Slaymaker was a week end visitor in Chicago.

Miss Gerber entertained the Teachers' Bridge Club at the Swan Sandberg home last week.

Everett Haskell Welch of Pomona, California, passed away there October 13, after an illness of several years. He had attained the age of seventy-four years.

Mr. Welch was born October 4, 1858 in LaSalle and during his boyhood spent several years in Lee Center, with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Haskell. In recent years he had visited here several times, always retaining his affection for his former home and friends in this community.

On Christmas Day, 1884, he was united in marriage with Miss Florence Marogy in Dubuque, Ia., and seven years later, having moved to Pomona, Cal., from their home in Browns, Iowa. Shortly after their arrival in Pomona, he began working for the Santa Fe Railroad and had been the North Pomona agent for over thirty-two years at the time of his retirement.

Mr. Welch was a member of the First Christian church and took an active part in various fraternal organizations.

He was a member of the Pomona Odd Fellows Lodge, 246; Pomona Masonic Lodge, 246, and affiliated with organizations of both orders. His Odd Fellowship membership dates back over forty years and he was a Past Grand of that lodge and Past Master of the Masonic Lodge. He was also active in the Pomona Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and served as Worthy Patron in 1899.

December 1, 1924, while going to his work on his bicycle, he was run over by an automobile and had since been an invalid.

He is survived by his widow and three children, Mrs. Charles V. Gillette, Pomona, Cal., Edward E. Welch, Pomona, Cal., and Dr. E. H. Welch of Sacramento, Cal. He also leaves one brother, Attorney Eugene W. Welch, Galesburg, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Bohn, Chicago. Funeral services were held in Pomona at the Todd & Reeves Chapel, with the Odd Fellows taking charge there, and the Masons holding services at the cemetery.

The Lee Center Community High School, will present the three act play "And Mary Did," by L. G. Worchester, at the Woodman hall Thursday night, November 3rd.

This is a play which is somewhat unusual. Instead of a designing mother planning for her lovely daughter, the fond father has very definite plans for his only son. Mary Sterling very cleverly wins her lover, despite other plans of the fond father. Also the small brother and sister furnish some very clever comedy along with the cook and the gardener.

Misses Schoemaker and Gerber of the faculty are coaching a cast selected from the high school student body. The funds will be used for student activities in athletics and other things.

Characters

Mary Sterling, (a modern Joan of Arc)—Alma Bohn.

Lawrence Grey (a modern Lancelot)—Roland Ullrich.

Mrs. Sterling (an old-fashioned mother)—Elva Hill.

Dress Rand, (the kind of girl that men forget?)—Hester Reuben.

Daniel Grey, (father of Lawrence and ambitious as to his matrimonial and financial career)—Elbert Bohn.

Edith Smith, (Mary's chum, whose aim in life is to laugh off the other fifty pounds)—Elizabeth Conibear.

Willie Sterling & Betty Sterling (Mary's brother and sister)—Elmer Mortenson and Shirley Richardson.

Miss O. G. Whittaker (a masculine monument to feminine freedom)—Elsie Larson.

Matilda (helps Mrs. Sterling)—Amy Stone.

Henry, (Supposed to be Daniel Grey's gardener, but spends most of his time in Matilda's kitchen)—Robert Stone.

AMUSEMENTS

"ANOTHER LANGUAGE"

The element of surprise is an essential to entertainment, and in those days of flux and change, that element is not confined to the rostrum of the theatre but has extended to the operative forces.

As witness "Another Language" now playing at the Harry Theater in Chicago and the Booth Theatre in New York. The play was produced by Arthur J. Beckhard whose name, heretofore, has never been on a playbill. It is consummate, subtly directed and mounted with a feeling which is marked by sympathetic treatment. Rose Franken is the playwright. Her new name in the theatre, Her first play. Yet it is treated with a direct and understanding method which makes the characters believable and its theme is one which reaches the heart of every playgoer.

"Another Language" tells the story of the Hallams, mother, father, four sons and their wives. All have fallen under the spell of the possessive mother except the younger son and his wife, who are making a fight to keep their own lives untainted by the narrow limits to which the others have succumbed. Comes the son of the elder son and falls in love with the aunt because she sympathizes and encourages his desire to live a life of his own. On this story is builded a domestic drama of such power that it grips one until its believable climax. As with all domestic drama there is comedy which relieves the tension and again makes the characters and the play one with reality.

In its playing "Another Language" is as fine as anything that has reached the Chicago stages in recent years. Tom Powers and Laura Straub, as the young couple, are admirable. Philip Faversham, as the boy, gives a quality of youth to the portrayal which makes it most appealing. Ellen Lowe as a wise girl who knows what it is all about, is biting and ironic and Enid Gray as the mother puts just that touch of realism into the characterization which the motivation of the play requires. All in all "Another Language" is a delightful theatre in the fullest worth of the term.

Discover "Racket" In Labor Department

New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—Secretary Doak said today that while the Labor Department has been "vigorously attempting to enforce the immigration law," it has not been vigorous activities have been to apprehend and convict American citizens who are guilty of robbing the foreign-born people.

Addressing the foreign language bureau of the Republican National Committee, Doak said an investigation started soon after he took office "uncovered a gang of racketeers so bold they forged warrants of deportation."

"We discovered," he said, "not only out-of-the-service men working this racket but even some of those in the immigration service were leaving tribute on the poor, unsuspecting foreign-born people here. . . . We apprehended some of our employees who were accepting and demanding graft from the foreign-born people, and in community were the offenses more grave than we found them in the city of New York."
